2018 Sports Specialty Group - Evening Seminars

Infection Prevention and Wound Care

Mon 26 Mar 2018 – The Guardian

Calls to rein in antibiotic use after study shows 65% increase worldwide

- Drug resistant infections kill half a million people a year
- Increase in antibiotic use is largely in developing world

'A dramatic rise in global antibiotic consumption has led public health experts to call for fresh strategies to rein in excessive use of the drugs...'

The unrestrained use of antibiotics is the main driver for the rise in drug-resistant infections which now kill more than half a million people a year worldwide, including 50,000 in Europe and the US combined. Left unchecked, the spread of drug resistance could claim millions of lives a year by 2050, according to a recent report published in UK. "

This presentation will look at common causes of infection in athletes and how to best treat them, including the 'Red Flag' warning signs of when to seek advanced care. We will also discuss simple everyday measures to help prevent spread of infection.

Speaker biography:

Lucy Clarke

Lucy Clarke trained initially as an intensive care nurse in London, UK. Having relocated to Hong Kong, she set up and ran a successful medical training organisation for 20 years, teaching pre-hospital immediate care and advanced life support programmes. Lucy was instrumental in establishing the first American Heart Association training centres in both Hong Kong and China as well as throughout Asia.

With a passion for all sports especially hockey, sailing and rugby, Ms Clarke is actively involved in the training of medics to provide immediate care at sporting events. She is an invited faculty at CUHK, HKU and HK PolyU on their Post Grad Sports Medicine programmes. Lucy is also a Senior Medical Educator with World Rugby and Senior Faculty on the Pre-Hospital Immediate Care in Sports (PHICIS) courses having established Hong Kong as the first international training hub for these RFU programmes.

Lucy currently works as Head of Player Welfare & Medical at Hong Kong Rugby and is studying for her MBA with Macquarie University, Australia.
